DEFINITIONS

- For the purposes of credential designation requirements, the following definitions shall apply:
1. Annual - a calendar year that begins on the first day of January.
  2. Conducted mediation – a process during which the mediator communicates with the parties to a conflict either together or separately to identify with each known party the issues in dispute and possible solutions, and to encourage and facilitate communication, reconciliation, settlement and understanding between the parties.
  3. Mediation or Hours of Mediation - refers to 'conducted mediation' as defined above.
  4. Substantive Course- Education in a subject matter area involved in the cases mediated. The subject matter education must be provided through an organization recognized by practitioners in the subject matter area for providing such training and issues certificates of completion of training, e.g. Bar Association CLE or other CE Association courses.
  5. Training or Continuing Education - any training or continuing education which meets TMCA criteria for training or continuing education. See the criteria on the TMCA website at www.txmca.org.
